

The bandwidth ceiling is a curve, not a constant

Apple M4, single core. Every “% of peak” before Sprint 6 divided by one number — the DRAM figure.

Bands mark the three regimes the measurements distinguish; the kernels' reported shapes sit at 16 MiB and 256 MiB.